

PHENOLOGY WHEEL

Take a walk around the Arboretum, your neighborhood, park, or find a spot in your yard to focus on. Pay particular attention to what you notice- the colors, the sounds, the smells, the plants, the animals that appear.

In the inner slice of the wheel record (in a picture or word format) the weather is during your observation. In the larger section of the slice draw, color or list plants and animals what you observed. Over the course of months (or weeks), you'll have collected seasonal observations and reconnected to nature.
